

It has been an honor to work with NJPA to advocate for ECPs. The cost of becoming a psychologist has increased dramatically, and the barriers to licensure can be insurmountable, especially for trainees of color. I am proud to be a part of NJPA's initiatives to support students, permit holders, and ECPs to ensure that we have a workforce of well-trained psychologists from diverse backgrounds who are able to support themselves financially as they support their clients across New Jersey. Thank you very much for this award.
